While his men were strong the current was so swift, and so filled with masses of drifting ice, that there was not the slighest prospect of success, and any attempt. slighest prospect of success, and any attempt could only have ended in drifting helplessly on some ice-floe, a condition from which after thirty days the party had just been rescued. At Cary Islands, directly in Lieutenant Garlington's path, 100 miles south of Cape Sabine, there were 1,800 rations in the Nare's cache in good condition, which he had inspected but six days previously. This made it unnecessary to take from Cape Sabine of Lieutenant Greely's stores more than four days' rations for his own party. This would have left for Lieutenant Greely at Cape Sabine 1,900 rations, and placed his safety beyond question."

U. S. Currency and Bonds. ANNUAL REPORT OF THE REGISTER OF THE TREAS-

The annual report of the register of the Treasury prepared by W. P. Titcomb, acting register, states that "the work of the loan division decreased on account of the cessation of the operation of refunding the national debt, and the clerical force in that ing the national debt, and the clerical force in that division has been reduced from 35 persons to 23 persons. The work of the currency division having sented to be a candidate for the Senate to succeed diminished somewhat, the force there has been reduced also. The surplus force has been detailed to other divisions and bureaus where its services were required. The work of the note and coupon division is nearly two years in arrears, owing to the detail of clerks from that division for the performance of current work in other divisions of pressing importance. If sufficient room should be furnished, it would be possible to bring this work up, but with the present accommodations for that division it will not be possible to do so for a very long time, if at all. Upon the establishment of the bureau of navigation the clerical force, records and files of the tonnage division of this office were transferred to it.

THE SWAIM COURT-MARTIAL.

The Defense Demurs to the Charges. ONE WITNESS EXAMINED TO-DAY BY AGREEMENT-A LEGAL FIGHT AGAINST THE CHARGES AND SPECIFI-

The eleven members of the Swaim court-martial remaining after the accused finished his chalenges yesterday met this morning at the Corcoran building, and proceeded to the trial of the charges against Gen. Swaim. The first charge is "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, in violation of the 61st article of war," and the second neglect of duty, in violation of the 63d article of war." There are several specifications out of these charges, growing out of the relations of Gen. Swalm with Mr. A. E. Bateman, the banker, and Col. A. o., he endorsed a duebill for $5,000 given by the firm, at a time when Gen. Swaim had deposited that amount of money in the bank, to Bright, Humphrey & Co., thus attempting, as it is alleged, to defraud Bateman & Co.; that Gen. Swalm subseproperly to evade and prevent an investigation of charges preferred by Bateman; that he made an evasive, uncandid and false answer in a letter to the Secretary of War when called upon to explain position to impair the value of securities given by Col. Morrow to certain brokers, unless they paid a ciaim which he held against Morrow; and that he Shellabarger and Grosvenor, and Mr. Bateman and his counsel, Mr. Jeff. Chandler, sat near the long table occupied by the court. Col. Morrow was also present. The judge advocate, Maj. Gardner, stated that arrangements had been made for a larger room for the use of the court in the Ebbitt house. He presented also a letter from Gen. Meigs suggesting the use of a room in the new pension court, said that if the room in the Eubitt house was not found to answer the purpose they would avail themselves of Gen. Meigs' suggestion.

When proceedings were begun this morning it was arranged that the record should be read over each day by counsel, instead of being read to court. The judge advocate then read the formal charges against Gen. Swalm. After the reading the judge advocate stated that, as the defense had previously ntimated, the pleading would occupy some time, he would like first to get consent to introduce the

After some discussion, the witness in question,

Mr. Myron M. Parker, real estate broker of this city, was introduced. Mr. Parker was shown the due bill for $5,000 given by Bateman & Co to Gen. Swaim in July, 1882. He said the due bill was delivered to him by Mr. Humphrey, of Bright & Humphrey, about noon of April 18th, 1883, so near as the witness could recolect. He was on his way to Gen. Swaim's office at the time, and meeting Mr. Humphrey on the way, Humphrey obtained Gen. Swalm's permission to deliver the due bill to witness according to an agreement previously made, and set out in a memorandum. The memoundum of the agreement was made upon the day of the publication of Mr. Bate-THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE FIRST CONTROLLER had an interview with Col. A. P. Morrow in shows that 3,535,826 vouchers were examined and April, 1883, in reference to his pay accounts. Two or three weeks later he had an interview with Gen. Swaim about Col. Morrow's pay vouchers. The firm of Bateman & Co., with which witness was then connected, had made advances on pay vouchers given by Col. Morrow, and had become satisfied that they were duplicates and worthless. The witness called Gen. Swaim's attention to the fact. He asked Gen. Swalm to see Col. Morrow and, if possible, use his influence to have Col. Morrow set these accounts right. Gen. Swaim expressed surprise and said he would see Col Morrow. Witness spoke to Gen Swaim at Mr. Bateman's suggestion. No one introduced Col. Morrow to the bank when he got the advance upon his vouchers. Col. McKibben came to the bank with him. He brought a note from Gen. Swaim. During the ummer of 1883 Gen. Swalm and Mr. Bateman had an interview in the witness' office in relation to Col. Morrow's pay accounts and his indebtedness to different persons. The judge advocate was about to present to the witness the record of the witness' testimony before the court of inquiry to refresh his memory. Mr. Grosvenor objected to reviving the recollec-tion of the witness in this way. At that examination, he said, the president of the court (Gen. Pope) having his intellectual headquarters in the saddle, rode, booted and spurred over every proposition of law and justice ever laid down in a book, or intimated by an elementary teacher until he succeeded in encumbering the record with state-ments that the witness never uttered and manifestly never intended to utter. The judge advocate thereupon withdrew the record. The witness was unable to give more than a general statement of the interview between Gen. Swalm and Mr. Bateman, saying that it was in regard to this subject of Col. Morrow's accounts, and that both Swalm and Bateman became very earnest and warm. In the cross-examination witness command the navy yard at League Island, Pa., said that in the conversation it was stated that if their pay, but he would not say that this was said by Gen. Swalm. The note of intro-duction brought by Morrow was a formal note, simply stating that Col. Morrow wanted to talk to Bateman & Co. about some business transactions. He did not think it stated anything about Col. Morrow's financial responsibility. The witness was then excused. GEN. SWAIM'S DEMURRERS. Gen. Swaim was then called upon to plead to the charges. He demurred, through his counsel, Mr. Grosvenor, to the first specification under the first charge, on the ground that the facts set forth were not sufficient to sustain the charge. As a matter of law the demurrer set forth the transaction described in relation to the due bill could not have

Election Bets. CONSIDERABLE AMOUNT OF MONEY CHANGES

The lucky men who backed Cleveland in the recent presidential race were smiling faces and had full pocketbooks yesterday. Stakeholders accepted the official canvass in New falled to report to the proper authorities, although the knew the fact that Col. Morrow had duplicated York as finally deciding the election in favor of Cleveland and paid over the money in their hands without waiting for the formal declaration of the state canvassing board. Thousands of dollars were handed over to winners in this city yesterday. Mr. James Wall won $2,700, and Mr. George Bauer took in a thousand or MAJORITY OR PLURALITY? No little confusion has arisen in some cases from a mistaken use of the word "majority." Men who have made bets solely with reference to their estimate of the respective strength of Blaine and Cleveland have employed the word majority to define what they meant to be plurality. In some cases these bets have been recorded, and the man who thought he had won finds that he is loser under a literal construction of the terms of the bet.

In several instances the claim to a literal construction of the word has been waived, both parties to the bet agreeing that they had reference to the ma-jority of Blaine over Cleveland or of Cleveland over Blaine. The Trading in New York. HOW CLEVELAND'S PLURALITY IN THE COUNTY WAS A gentleman who was actively connected with the management of the democratic canvass, and who was engaged at national headquarters in New York throughout the campaign, said to a STAR reporter to-day: "Both the democratic organizations in New York city traded Cleveland off for votes for local candidates, but Tarmany, stood firmer, than local candidates, but Tammany stood firmer than the county democracy, though the latter was con-trolled by Cleveland's friends. The leaders of both factions were earnest and sincere in their support of Cleveland and honestly endeavored to hold their subordinates up to the work. While there was a good deal of trading, I feel sure that the leaders were not responsible for it. Since the election some of the subordinate or district leaders of the county democracy have been called to account for trading off the national ticket. They admitted it; at least some of them did, for they could not deny it, but protested that they thought Cleveland had margin enough to permit them to run in some of their friends for local offices by trading without injury to the national ticket. Now, this was the idea of a good many of them, and without knowing that others were doing the same thing they traded votes and made a difference of not less than 20,000 or 25,000 in New York city. Cleveland ought to have had 70,000 or 75,000 plurality in New York county, and would have had it but for the trading."

A Great Lake in Rupert's Land Dis QUEBEC, November 18.—F. H. Bignell, of this city, who left in June last in command of the transport expedition to Lake Mistassini, has returned lie gives a few particulars of the expedition. The party with great difficulty reached the provinces northern boundary. They then crossed into Rupert's land, and at a distance of 380 miles from Lake St. John they reached the southwestern extremity of the great Lake Mistassini. The general trend of the lake, so far as known, is from the southwest to the northeast, stretching away from Foam bay, and a height of land in the southwest, to an unknown distance towards eastern Maine and Labrador. The waters of the lake swarm with fish of all kinds, and fur bearing animals are abundant. The climate is agreeable and the region is suitable for agricultural purposes. It is stated that the Hudson bay company have had an agency there for upwards of 100 years, but have held it secret that a lake of such dimensions ever existed in that part of the country. It is supposed to be as large as Lake
